Knights Drop Hard Fought Game To Sandburg Eleven

BY RANDY WHEELER

The Lincoln-Way Knights played their finest game of the conference season last Saturday before a large spirited homecoming throng. The final score was Carl Sandburg 42, Lincoln-Way 12 but the score doesn't give a good idea of the football which the Knights played. Although the score looks rather lopsided, the Eagles knew that they were in a battle.

The Knights quarterback, Kurt Fredin, kicked off to Sandburg with Ernie Sharpe receiving the ball on the ten yard line and charging to the forty yard line of Sandburg before being brought down by Lincoln-Way. Sandburg controlled the ball only a short time before a hard-hitting Lincoln-Way line caused Bob Morris, the Eagles right halfback to fumble the ball. The Knights recovered and took control of the pigskin in their own territory. The first touchdown came when Kurt Fredin had a pass on the flat intercepted by Ernie Sharpe who had clear sailing for 36 yards and his first touchdown of the day. Sharpe then kicked the extra point giving Sandburg a 7 point lead.

The Eagles then kicked off to the Knights, Sharpe kicking and DeLay receiving, and returning the ball 19 yards. However, the Knights couldn't gain sufficient yardage and had to punt. Shortly after the Sandburg team took control of the ball the quarterback, Pat Heniff, faded back and hit Sharpe with a 22 yard pass and Sharpe once again scored. The attempt for the conversion, with Sharpe again kicking, Carl Sandburg 14, Lincoln-Way 0. The score remained this way until the second quarter when Lincoln-Way scored their first touchdown and Sandburg added another.

Sandburg was again threatening to score when Andy Wyzewich, the Knight's left defensive tackled Sandburg's Jerry McGraw very hard causing him to fumble and Tom Hamilton, Lincoln-Way halfback picked up the ball and out ran Sandburg pursuers and thereby entering six Lincoln-Way points on the scoreboard. The extra point attempt was unsuccessful.

Sandburg's second quarter touchdown was run by, you guessed it, Ernie Sharpe—this time around end. He also kicked another extra point, making the score 21-6 in favor of Sandburg.

The scoring in the third quarter was a duplicate to the second quarter. Sharpe scored his fourth and final touchdown on a five yard run. He also followed it with another extra point by kicking, and Lincoln-Way scored in the air, Fredin hitting the Knights junior right end with a five yard pass which Nicholson fielded neatly in the end zone. The Knights again failed to make the conversion. The score at the end of the third period of play was Sandburg 28—Lincoln-Way 12.

The fourth quarter was uneventful for the Knights as far as scoring goes, but Sandburg struck twice more, once on a pass play—Heniff to Morris who ran 27 yards for the touchdown and once by fullback, Frank Blaha, who bolted thru the line for four yards, enough to add six more points to the Sandburg score. Sharpe kicked both extra points for Sandburg, giving the Eagles a total of 42 points.

School Problem Confronts Mokena, N. Lenox

The future of the Marley grade school district came up for some discussion at the meeting of the Mokena grade school district last week.

Under ordinary circumstances school boards have enough of their own problems without reviewing any of their neighbors but the future of the Marley district could have a bearing on that of the Mokena and New Lenox districts, it was brought out.

It all traces to the routing and building of the proposed new national east-west highway, Fair-80. From available information the proposed super-highway is to pass thru the Marley school district. Some say it will go thru Oakbrook subdivision.

If the Marley district is divided there would be quite a problem in getting children to school. One doesn't cross super highways except where there are openings and no access road planned in the vicinity of Marley.

There has been talk, therefore, at Marley that perhaps the district could be dissolved with a portion of it annexing to the Mokena district and the remainder to the New Lenox grade school district.

Inasmuch as the dividing boundary lines would be the center of the proposed highway Marley district, which would include the subdivision of Rolling Heights, would be attached to the Mokena district, while the major portion would attach to the Lenox district, it was stated, in the event such annexations took place.

As matters stand now the Mokena school board members are opposed to the annexation.

School auditorsnn Ernst and Ernst recommended that the money remaining from the construction of the Willow Crest school be transferred to the building fund. The Mokena district is in a good financial condition, according to the report made at the last meeting. The treasury bills in which the board had $40,000 invested have matured and the treasurer, Oliver Kiesler, has been instructed to re-invest the money in other government securities after consultation with Supt. James Ennis. The board has $56,000 to invest—$40,000 in the educational fund, and $8,000 each in the building fund and the bond and interest account.

Fuel oil bids for Willow Crest school were tabled until next meeting. And on the subject of meetings the board has decided to hold sessions twice a month now in order to keep up with the increase in the business it has to do. The meetings will be held on the night of the second Tuesday and the fourth Monday in Willow Crest school.

Plans have been approved which should make it more convenient as well as safer for pupils attending Willow Crest school and reside west of Wolf road. Now they have to go to Wolf road and thence to Second street which leads up to the school. It is planned now to lay a sidewalk from the school grounds to 197th street. An outline of the proposed project is to be sent to parents.

Supt. Ennis is also sending out notices showing parents the boundary lines for the Carpenter Street and the Willow Crest schools with the view of pointed out the feasibility of children going home at noon for lunch.

Teachers complain that too many children now bring their lunches, a fact that causes teachers to work thru their own lunch period. When the weather is bad children will be permitted to eat at the school. Otherwise those within walking distance—and this applies to the majority of pupils—are to go home for lunch.

Dentist Says Area Water Supply Needs Fluorination

The use of sodium fluoride in the Frankfort water supply was recommended to the village board of that community by Dr. Joseph Petuch, a practicing dentist there.

Dr. Petuch said that while Joliet's deep wells provided sufficient natural fluorine there some of the element should be added to the Frankfort and Mokena supplies to bring them up to the recommended point.

Approximately one part of fluorine to a million parts of water is sufficient to combat tooth decay, Petuch said, or getting it down to a more easily understood comparison, one drop of fluorine in 16 gallons of water.

The cost of fluorinating the water supply should average about 10 cents per person, Petuch stated, which includes the cost of the equipment to accomplish the job. In the case of Frankfort, he added, it would cost $1,300 or $1,400.

The trustees said they would consider the proposal after further investigation.

Dr. Petuch said that experience shows that proper fluorination of a public water supply will reduce tooth decay about two-thirds.

Fluorine may be applied directly to the teeth, he explained, or taken in the system thru the use of treated drinking water.

New Lenox is said to lack sufficient fluorine too but New Lenox does not have a central water supply except one that serves only a comparatively few families. The people there have their own wells for the most part.

"Fluorinating the water supply," Dr. Petuch told the Frankfort board, "would be the best thing that could be done for the community for the least cost and be of the greatest benefit."

Adding fluorine does not change the color, taste or odor of water, Dr. Petuch said. Too much, however, can make teeth spotted.

The Frankfort board also discussed insurance. Currently it has a number of policies in force that expire at various times so that it seems that a premium is always due, the trustees complained.

It is seeking a means of having all the policies in one package with one premium payment taking care of the whole thing.

Mrs. Irving Rudman, head of the SPC, an organization of Frankfort citizens interested in building up the recreational features of the Community park, appeared before the Frankfort village board Monday night to acquaint the trustees with new plans.

The plans include a baseball diamond where youngsters not affiliated with leagues can just play ball; a horseshoe court, football goal posts where kids can practice kicking and passing, and a game with a basketball which puts a premium on passing and handing and accuracy in shooting. The request of Police Chief Francis Simon for a pay raise is to be considered by the board.

Schmuhl School Seeks Guidance As To Future

Persons interested in the problems of Schmuhl school district, No. 121, are invited to serve on a committee to do some research and long range planning.

The idea of forming such a committee was brought up by the school directors at a meeting this week. Schmuhl school is operated by three directors instead of a board.

It is a country school that has been steadily growing because of the increasing population.

Schmuhl was a one-room school originally. Now there are four rooms and four teachers. The present enrollment is 96.

What is to become of Schmuhl school?

That is the question the committee is expected to answer. The committee members are expected to make inquiries among the residents of the district to get their views and at will go to Springfield Saturday for the annual meeting of the Illinois Municipal league. They will remain thru Monday. The convention ends Tuesday. Other members of the council were unable to attend this year.

and same time seek guidance from those of experience in the educational field.

Should Schmuhl school annex to a larger district, join with other districts to form a large one, or go it alone? If the district retains its present identity it is just a question of time before it will have to build an addition to the school -- either that or build an entirely new school, according to those who have made some study of the problem.

Persons interested in serving on this committee are asked by the directors to communicate with Mrs. Keith H. Eck, whose telephone number is HU-5-8910.

After the committee has finished its task the directors plan to hold some type of referendum to get an expression of opinion by the people of the community.

Blame Drunken Rowdies For Blaze In Cemetery

Drunken rowdies who have been littering Pleasant Hill cemetery near Frankfort with beer and liquor bottles for the past several weeks, set fire to the tool shed there last Saturday morning, burning it to the ground, it was reported to Village officials this week.

The lawnmowers in the shed and a quantity of stone markers to designate plot boundaries were damaged. There would have been another lawnmower damaged, it was pointed out but for the simple fact that it was stolen sometime ago.

Pleasant Hill cemetery is outside the village of Frankfort and so is not subject to police patrol. As a result, it was said, cemetery parties are increasing in popularity. Groups have been staging drinking bouts among the graves and then discarding the empty containers in the grounds.

Scores of bottles and cans are picked up in the cemetery every week, it was said.

The shed fire took place about 4 o'clock last Saturday morning. It was believed that some of the drunken revelers set the place on fire.

Mokena Schools Observe Fire Prevention Week

The Mokena public schools observed Fire Prevention Week Oct. 8-13 in cooperation with the Mokena Volunteer fire department. On Tuesday afternoon the fire department conducted timed fire drills at both schools. Willowcrest school was completely evacuated in 60 seconds and Carpenter Street school in less than 30 seconds.

In addition to the fire drill at Willowcrest school, the Fire Department demonstrated some of their equipment in operation. They furnished home safety checks lists and pamphlets for each student to take home.

On Friday morning at Carpenter Street school an assembly was held. Mr. Donaldson, principal demonstrated how to use fire extinguishers, and Supt. Ennis, talked on "Safety and Fire Prevention". Home safety check lists were handed out at the conclusion of the assembly.

St. John's Picnic Dips Into Past

A beautiful day was enjoyed by approximately 150 members and friends at St. John's United Church of Christ at their "Old Fashioned Basket Dinner" which was held in the village park alongside the church on Sunday, Oct. 14.

Families groups ate from their individual basket dinners and were served milk dipped from an old fashioned milk pail.

Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Thiel, dressed in authentic old costumes, arrived, accompanied by their two grandsons, in a horse drawn buggy. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kropp, Clarence Luaffer, Joyce Luaffer, Mrs. Lester Schiek, David Kropp, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clark and Mrs. Paul Rauch all came dressed for the occasion. Many pictures were taken and rides given in the buggy.

At 2:30 a songfest was held under the trees and lemonade was served by the Friendly Circle. The lemonade was dipped from an old fashioned stone jar. LeRoy Harling and Norval Robinson led the singing and several numbers were sung by the cherub, junior, and adult choirs. Many hymns requested by the audience were sung and appropriately the program ended with the singing of "America".

LONG AGO many rooms looked like this. The setting here is one of the exhibits in the basement of St. John's church arranged to show the present generation how earlier generations in Mokena lived. Youngsters today might be interested to know that strap hanging on the door frame had other uses than just to sharpen razors. It was sometimes utilized to sharpen obdience.

Invite Area Residents To 'Coffee' Sip At Hospital

Residents of the South Suburban area are invited to an "International Coffee Sip" Thursday, Oct. 25 at Tinley Park State Hospital.

Sponsored by the Activities Therapy Department, this coffee sip will feature tables representing four countries. Coffee will be served as it is brewed in these countries, accompanied by pastries and other tidbits representative of Hawaii, Germany, Japan, and Italy. Costumes and decorations will carry out the international theme.

Coffee will be served from 1:30 until 3 in Infirmary 4, an open ward in the semi-infirmary building. Signs will be erected to guide the guests.

Preparations have been going on for several months and patients have been making thousands of decorative beads and motifs. Each table is staffed and planned by a committee composed of an activity therapy worker, several volunteers and several patients.

The International Coffee sip is unique with Tinley Park State Hospital.

It is planned each year by Mrs. Estella Benn, supervising therapist. "This activity is an excellent one for bridging the gap between the hospital and the world outside," says John L. Cutler, MD, superintendent. "It gives the patients a chance to play host to their friends outside the hospital."

Will Discuss United Nations

Thomas E. Gause, director of communications for the Robert H. Donnelly Corp., printers, and head of his own public relations and sales consultant firm, is to discuss the United Nations at the family fellowship meeting in the Frankfort Methodist church on Oct. 28. The meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m.

Mr. Gause majored in political science at the university of Illinois, studied law at the University of Chicago and Valparaiso and served in the economics division of the U.S. military government in Berlin. He is a director of the American Association for the United Nations and president of the Oak Park-River Forest chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

There will be no potluck dinner that evening but refreshments will be served.

Chest Drive Is On Sunday At Frankfort

Sunday is to be Community Chest day in Frankfort, it was announced this week by Howard Osmus.

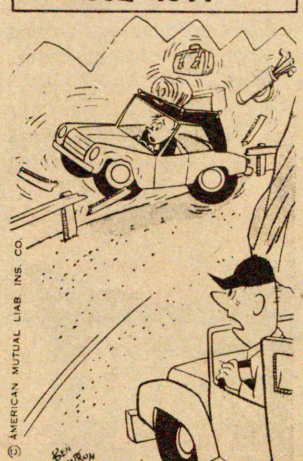

The Will County Chest campaign was slated to end this week but there are always some returns that are made later and on various occasions such returns, when added together, have been enough to make the campaign a success, it was pointed out.

The campaign in Frankfort will be a door-to-door affair put on by high school students armed with pledge cards and red feathers. The drive is to begin at 3 o'clock and wind up at 5:00.

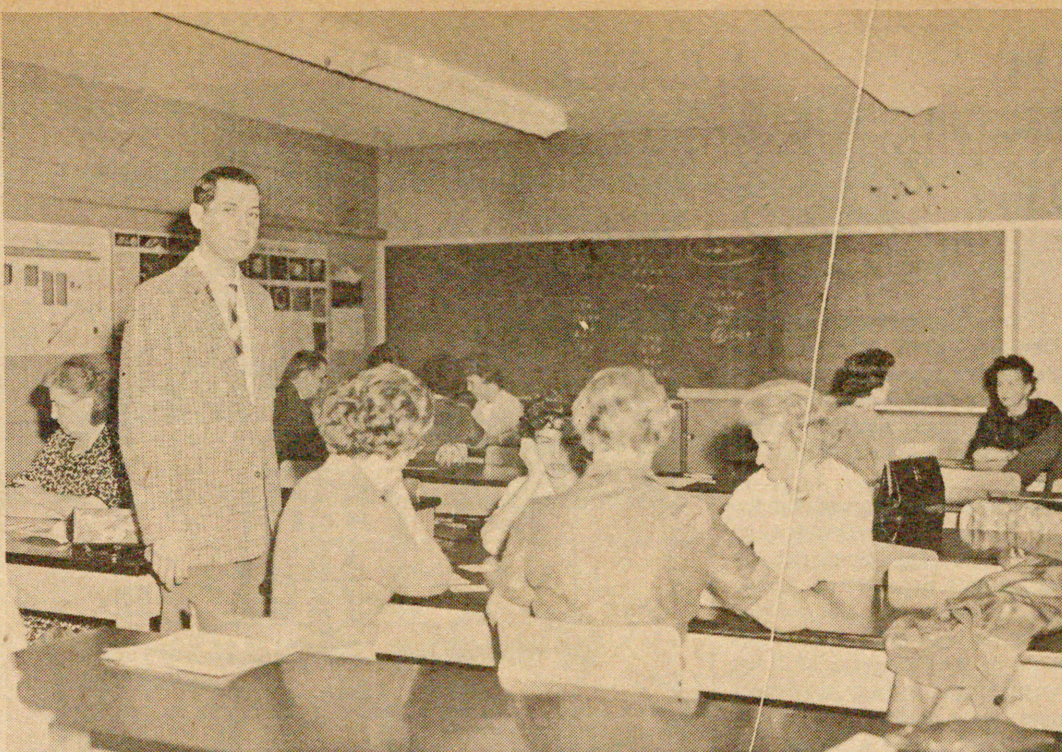

ROAST PIG SUPPER

St. Jude's Holy Name Society is sponsoring a roast pig dinner this Sunday, Oct. 21, on the church grounds. George Archibald will be in charge of the menu and the preparations of the delicacies planned, Bob Naylor, of Chicago, a guitar player and music arranger will have charge of entertainment. The affair is scheduled to begin at 5 p.m.

It is my belief that President Kennedy will have his arm twisted and be forced to do, exactly he wants to do. All this "jazz" from Javits is merely a part of the showmanship often practiced by the "Liberal Brain Trust". Secretary Celebrezze appears to be a bit different when compared with his mentors. When asked, what he thought of legalizing abortions, for mothers who have taken Thalidomide, he stated, "I believe that nature should be allowed to take its course". Do we let nature take its course in case of illness? NO, we see a doctor.

This is the first time that I have heard such a statement from a member of the "Fast Deal" boys. I am for this attitude, almost 100%. Let us have less government controls and MORE FREEDOM in all matters. Let us discharge a few of the department of agricultural job holders, for instance, who are so numerous, that there is one for every forty farmers in the United States. Then let nature take care of production controls. Supply and demand always did this in the pre-New Deal, pre-Fair Deal and pre-New Frontier eras.

School Boy Logic

There is too much talk today about the profits of business being excessive. The critics of profits never mention the fact that government would be flat-busted with its excessive cost of operation, if it were not for profits to tax. The federal government runs billions in the red now. We can create a real depression if the anti-business talk keeps up and is reflected in action. Then watch the public debt climb and the value of the dollar drop.

Senator Opposes Blue Ballot

Senator Lottie Holman O' Neill, who represents Will and DuPage counties in the Illinois senate will relinquish her post at the close of the current year. She was not a candidate for re-election this year. She has served the district long and well and for her health's sake is cutting down some on her activities.

Senator O' Neill is quite active, however, in those matters in which she is deeply interested. Senator O' Neill is intensely interested in government by the people and a stout foe against any move which she believes might result in the loss of their rights. She also is opposed to big government which is only a step away from dictatorship.

Senator O' Neill is devoting her efforts now against the so-called judicial reform measure set forth on the blue ballot which will be voted upon at the Nov. 6 election.

This measure would amend the judicial article of the Illinois constitution, abolishing all courts below the status of circuit courts: eliminating competition in the election of judges, and give the Illinois supreme court control of the judicial system.

Proponents of the change argue that the new system would be more efficient.

Senator O' Neill gives a number of reasons for her stand against the amendment.

First, she says, there is the matter of taxes. An enormous increase in taxes will be made necessary for the administration of the proposed court system, she says, that will involve millions of dollars...an added burden on the taxpayer.

Hints For Homeowners

BY: JAMES FIZZELL,
ASSOC. FARM ADVISER

Early fall is considered the best time to plant one of the most popular garden perennials, peonies. These plants are familiar and appreciated by almost everyone. They are one of the most showy and most easily grown of all garden flowers. Most of our peony varieties originate from two species, Paeonia albiflora and Paeonia chinensis. The species are almost never planted, but the centuries of crossing have resulted in the many varieties and types which are so beautiful in our gardens in late spring. Peony flowers are classified as to the amount of doubleness. Singles have five petals and a

It is generally conceded that a bank must have a healthy earning capacity. If it were to lend money at no interest it would be bankrupt. Industry is no different than a bank; if it produces goods and services at no profit or too little profit, it will go bankrupt.

Government has no income except what it first takes from its citizens in taxes. Its solvency depends on the ability of its citizens to produce a surplus (profit) to tax.

Second, it is another step toward elimination of local government: elimination of the "poor man's" court, and removes the courts further from the people, the senator contends. She also makes the point that the proposed amendment follows the trend of turning over the functions of government to appointees rather than elected public servants. . . a trend with dangerous implications.

It would further centralize power by establishing the chief justice of the state supreme court as absolute authority over all courts in the state.

Third on the list of the senator's arguments is that for all practical purposes judges would hold office for life. There would be no opposing candidates on the judicial ballot. The only names that would appear there would be the judges in office with yes and no squares to mark, Senator O' Neill states, and adds that such methods are used by dictators to insure re-election in office.

Senator O' Neill concludes a letter she has mailed out with the following paragraph:

"It appears to me that the master planners who are responsible for the appearance of this amendment on the Illinois and other state ballots have created a lawyers' lobby for this so-called 'modernization' or 'reform' of our courts. It indicates use of expediency and pressure when people say, 'I know it's bad, but I can't be against it.'"

"Fear of reprisal on the part of some judges appears to be true now. It is therefore up to us plain citizens to avoid involvement in such totalitarian schemes."

On Second Thot

By GLENN F. LOGAN

Come November, December, when newspapers and magazines are devoting considerable space to holiday menus, the number of cases of high blood pressure among women is believed to rise sharply.

There are no figures from the U.S. Public Health Service, to substantiate the contention as far as this department know, but it seems that the subject could be utilized to funnel off some of the taxpayers' dollars by making a survey to determine the relation between the incidence of hypertension among women and the costs of holiday meals as set forth by the so-called experts.

The sort of thing referred to here are those pieces allegedly written by dieticians, home economic experts, or syndicate staff writers using names which would lead the reader to believe he was perusing the work of some famed chef.

The articles tell how one can prepare a Thanksgiving, or Christmas, dinner, with all the holiday trimmings, including turkey and desert, to serve a dozen people for $8.53 of $8.69 if one uses a pound of fresh cranberries instead of the small can of the jelly.

The husband reading such a piece may quote same to his spouse when she remarks that the turkey is going to cost something over $10.

"Ten dollars?" he echoes, "why I was just reading here that you can get a whole dinner for around $8.50, with mince or pumpkin pie or plum pudding with brandy sauce."

It is at this point that the blood pressure of women begin to climb and the article of this type they see or hear about the higher it goes until it is almost equal to the price of beef tenderloin or calf's liver.

But maybe this fall they will be happier, according to Economic Highlights, there is an article in the September issue of a national magazine by John Strohm, described as one of the nation's foremost agricultural writers and a traveler who has visited 70 countries, with an eye on food prices.

Mr. Strohm comes out flatfooted in his lead paragraph and states that "food is our No. 1 success story, a far bigger bargain in the U.S. than in any other nation."

He claims that we spend only 20 per cent of our after-tax income for food, whereas the Russians pay 56 per cent, the Italians 38 per cent and the Nigerians 70 per cent, which must be something like eating porterhouse steak in a night club.

Mr. Strohm says that the average amount spent by the American homemaker to feed her family runs $25 a week. He implies that we never had it so multitude of yellow, pollen bearing stamens. The transformation of these stamens into petal-like structures is what produces doubleness. Japanese peonies have two to three rows of petals and strap-like stamens. In fully double peonies the stamens are completely transformed into petals. The American Peony Society lists other intermediate types but the three general categories are usually enough for accurate classification.

Double peonies are sterile, and cannot be reproduced from seeds. The single and Japanese varieties are hybrids, and even though they may produce seeds, the resultant plants may be quite unlike their parents.

Peonies are almost always propagated by division of the large storage roots call tubers. The division should be divided into section containing three to five eyes. Plant the sections so that the top eye is about two inches below the surface of the soil. Too deep or too shallow planting is usually the cause of failure to bloom. Large clumps cannot be moved. When it is necessary to move a plant, it must be divided and the small pieces planted. Peonies will not bloom the year following division. If a bud is formed, it should be picked off. The third year after planting, satisfactory blooming should begin. Peonies make large plants so allow plenty of room for them to expand. Once established they do not like to be disturbed. Few diseases or insects attack peonies. Ants, often prolific on peonies, cause much undue concern. The do not hurt the plants, but remove the sweet material secreted by the buds.

good. When food was cheap so were wages, he says, and it took 40% of a family's income to buy grub.

There are some "eight million processors, package manufacturers, transporters, wholesalers, retailers who take our raw farm produce," he says, "and place 50 billion dollars' worth of food on store shelves."

Now you know each one of those outfits is taking a pretty fair cut then point to the farmer as the man getting the money.

The housewife will be glad to know that she is only putting 20% of the family income on the table. And if she thinks she is spending more than that she had better count again because 20 per cent is what it is and if you don't believe it you can read Mr. Strohm for yourself.

And one apparently does very well at this figure too because Mr. Strohm makes mention of jet planes bringing fresh lobster from Maine to the midwest and

ESTATE PLANNING

Estate planning is essentially a study of the impact of both the federal estate tax and the Illinois inheritance tax upon the distribution of an individual's property at the time of his death. However, the impact of taxes is not, and should not be the most important or only consideration when drawing a will.

Where an individual's holdings are large enough, the estate planner's function is to follow the testator's (will maker's) basic distributive scheme and suggest ways in which the tax impact can be lessened within the frame work of the testator's desires.

In many instances, of course, there are no tax problems because the testator's estate is not large enough. Even in these instances, however, the attorney can be of assistance.

Take for example the situation of Mr. and Mrs. X. Over a period of years Mr. X has accumulated various holdings worth upward of $150,000. He has two grown children. It is his desire to leave everything to his wife in the event of his death, with the idea that his wife, in turn, will give everything to the children.

In this situation, upon Mr. X's death, one-half of his estate will pass to Mrs. X free from federal estate tax. This is called the marital deduction.

However, assuming Mrs. X retains her husband's entire estate, it will all be taxable again upon her death because she does not have a surviving spouse, and, therefore, is not entitled to the marital deduction. It would be better to plan so that a part of Mr. X's holdings could be passed on to the children upon Mrs. X's death without further federal estate tax.

A commonly used method of achieving this end is for Mr. X's will to leave Mrs. X one-half of his estate outright, and one-half of his estate in trust, his wife to receive the income from the trust for the remainder of her life, and the principal to be distributed to the children upon Mrs. X's death.

An attorney might also suggest other tax saving devices. Let's imagine the case of a younger man who is purchasing large amounts of life insurance to protect his wife upon his death, and to insure his children's education. The estate planner might suggest that the wife be made the owner of a portion of the insurance on her husband's life, so as to remove the insurance proceeds from the federal estate tax.

Under the federal law the taxability of insurance proceeds is not dependent upon the payment of premiums. Instead, if our young man holds none of the incidents of ownership of the policy, the proceeds will not be taxable in his estate upon his death.

It may also be suggested by the attorney that the beneficiary clauses of the young man's insurance name individuals and not the estate of the insured because of the Illinois inheritance tax.

Under the Illinois inheritance tax law, insurance proceeds which go directly to a named beneficiary are not taxable. However, those proceeds which are payable to an estate are taxable under the Illinois law.

By no means, however, are tax problems the only ones with which the attorney can be helpful. Our fictional testator may be a young man with a family. In that event, the estate planner might suggest that thought be given to the children's custodial welfare in the event the young man and his wife should meet death in a common accident.

It might be well for the young man and his wife to designate in their wills which of their relatives they wish to have the custody of and to rear their children. They might want the same relatives to handle the children's finances.

In the event of the young couple's simultaneous deaths, they may want the relatives to have the custody of the children, but they may prefer to leave their property to a trustee for the benefit of their children until the children become of age.

Such a trust can be created to financially provide for the children's health, maintenance, education and welfare. It can be drawn so that the trustee has power to use the principal of the trust fund as well as the income for the benefit of the children, if the parents so desire.

In any event, the principal function of the attorney in estate planning is to be certain that the testator's desires will be fulfilled upon his death.

This column is written to inform and not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without consulting his attorney. Even a slight difference in the facts may change the result under the law.)

Nov. 1 Deadline For Keeping Same License Number

Only a little more than two weeks remain before the Nov. 1 deadline for motorists who wish to retain their present license numbers to submit their applications, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter reminds car owners.

Under the provisions of the motor vehicle law, motorists are given the right to retain their numbers from year to year provided they apply before Nov. 1 and request reassignment, Carpenter explained. There is no extra charge for this service.

Secretary Carpenter also reminded applicants to show their driver or chauffeur license number of the 1963 application, or to insert the word "none," when no license is held. If this information is not on the application, it will have to be returned to the car owner, Secretary Carpenter said.

The number is called for on the motor vehicle registration form to achieve greater coordination in the state's traffic safety program, Carpenter said.

Gas makes it easy to heat any extra room economically

Choose from any of these five modern gas room heaters for the fast, dependable heat you need in that extra room. All are handsome and compact . . . require no chimney . . . use no room oxygen (air is drawn in from outdoors into sealed combustion chamber). Ideal for attic area, breezeway, closed-in porch or garage. All operate with typical gas economy.

1. Suburban Novent installs in window or wall. Completely automatic with built-in forced warm air circulation system.

2. Stewart-Warner Saf-Aire can be recessed in either masonry or frame walls. Operates as a self-contained unit . . . will not affect any other heaters.

3. Peerless Uni-Matic can be used on any outside wall. Can be located beneath most windows to provide free arrangement of furniture.

4. Chill Chaser by Thermal Specialties is a hot water room heater with compact built-in pump. Ideal for any hard-to-heat area—requires no vent.

5. Temco is ideal for heating large areas. Unit rests on floor and fastens to wall with two screws. Also may be used for summer ventilation.

For the right gas room heater for your needs, see your local heating contractor or stop at your Northern Illinois Gas Company store.

Make School Story 2-Way Project, P.R. Man Urges

The school story is the responsibility of the board of education but the telling is done not only by the board but the faculty, students, parents and community, Lincoln-Way high school teachers were told at a recent workshop.

The speaker was John Canning of the American Oil Company's public relations department.

"Telling the school story successfully is two-way communication," he declared. "One is incoming. The other is outgoing."

"By incoming I mean finding out what is said and thought about the school and helping to keep school management informed."

"By outgoing is meant supplying information about the school for its various publics."

"One promotes understanding of the public by the school; the other promotes the understanding of the school by the public."

"Incoming communication, or information about what the public thinks about the school, can originate in joint meetings of high school and elementary school boards, administrations, or faculties; board seminars, neighborhood coffees, counselor interviews, teacher-parent and teacher-student conferences, etc."

"A school has relations with various publics, whether good or bad relations."

"Those who think of public relations in terms of ballyhoo and manipulation have missed the point. Public Relations has reached the stature of a profession not as talent for hire but as an implementation of school management concerned with doing its job better," He added.

"Public relations came of age when we started thinking of it in terms not only of putting out fires but of fire prevention."

Canning, for more than a quarter of a century in public relations in the petroleum industry, explained that good school public relations begins with doing the right thing and acting in the public interest "Not as a means to an end, but as an end in itself."

But he pointed out that "doing right isn't always enough." The public relations specialist is needed, he said, to avoid poor execution, bad timing, misdirection, or doing the right thing in the wrong way.

People with holes in their heads should have the holes filled, because opinion vacuums are dangerous, Canning said.

"It's important to get positive ideas across to people who lack opinions," he said. "People without opinions are easily swayed by the first crazy idea they hear about school."

He said that the essentials for a good school public relations program include:

1. Behavior that deserves and will win public approval -- the Golden Rule.
2. Good, two-way communication.
3. Using symbols, words, and expressions that people will understand.
4. Getting across the idea in school that public relations is everybody's business.
5. Managing in such a way that public relations specialists multiply their usefulness by working principally with other communicators.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID KELLER (Behnke Photo)

Nancy Long, David Keller Wed in Church Rites

Before an altar banked by arrangements of white gladioli and 'mums, Miss Nancy Long recited wedding promises with David Keller.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. August Long, 19628 North Wolf road, Mokena, while Mr. Keller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Keller, 1646 North Mayfield avenue, Chicago.

The wedding ceremony took place at 6:30 o'clock the evening of Aug. 25 in St. John's United Church of Christ with the Rev. Theodore Wimmer, officiating.

Guest soloist, Oliver Keisler, was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Donald Maue.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Alencon lace over taffeta with seed pearls and sequins embroidered on the scalloped neckline and scattered over the entire gown. A wide nylon ruffle bordered the full skirt which extended into a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was caught to a crystal tiara and she carried a cascade of six purple-throated white orchids.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the Veteran of Foreign Wars hall, to which some 450 guests attended. The bride's mother, Mrs. Long, greeted guests wearing a Nile green dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Keller, mother of the bridegroom, chose a navy blue dress with matching jacket and hat. Both mothers wore cymbidium orchid corsages.

The new Mrs. Keller donned a black and white silk dress with black accessories, when the couple departed for a honeymoon in Wisconsin.

The young couple are now residing in an apartment on Front street, Mokena.

MR. AND MRS. LEONARD HEMMRICH

Joanne Zitkus, Leon Hemmrich Repeat Vows At St. Mary's

Joanne Zitkus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Zitkus of 126 E. Woodlawn, New Lenox, and Leonard Hemmrich of Mokena recited nuptial vows Sept. 15, at a 2 o'clock ceremony at St. Mary's Church in Mokena, with Father Cecil Koop officiating.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Walter Schoeneck of 11149 McGovney, Mokena.

The bride wore a ballerina length gown of chantilly lace with iridescent sequint embroidered on the bodice and sabrina neckline.

Her finger tip veil was caught up by a crown of crystals and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of carnations and roses.
